Master Penalty Document

The Master Penalty Document lists contraventions resulting from failure to comply with requirements identified in the Customs Act, Customs Tariff and related regulations. Each contravention describes the failure to comply, the associated penalty amounts, legislative, regulatory and administrative references and guidelines for application of the contravention.

The Designated Provisions (Customs) Regulations outline the sections of the Customs Act, Customs Tariff, Special Import Measures Act (SIMA) and related regulations that relate to the AMPS program. Only obligations that are legislatively mandated are subject to AMPS penalties.

Unless otherwise indicated, penalties are normally applied by a Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) officer.

The 'Guidelines' are meant to provide guidance in applying the contraventions and are not exhaustive examples of the non-compliance they are meant to cover. For further information, refer to the appropriate legislation, regulation or other reference material.

Qualifying clients may be eligible for a reduction of penalties amounts under the Penalty Re-Investment Agreement (see D memorandum D22-1-2).

The Master Penalty Document is subject to periodic revisions.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when any importer, exporter, person who causes goods to be imported or exported, or any other designated person on behalf of said individuals fails to keep electronic records in an electronically readable format for the prescribed period.

The penalty is applied as a result of an audit, verification or examination.

The system on which data is stored must have capability of producing accessible and readable electronic records.

Any person who chooses to keep records electronically must also maintain the system requirements (including any equipment, hardware and software) that are necessary to access the information contained in those records, and must be willing to provide access to the equipment to CBSA officials for the purpose of reviewing the records.

The readable format must provide a link to relevant supporting documents.

Contravention

Person provided information to an officer that is not true, accurate and complete.

When a Special Import Measures Act (SIMA) code was not completed correctly for goods imported seven days or more after a preliminary determination was made and after the importer was notified in writing, and ending when the SIMA action is terminated by Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) or the Canadian International Trade Tribunal (CITT).

Guidelines

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when a person failed to meet the requirements for goods subject to the Special Import Measures Act (SIMA) by providing information to an officer that was not true, accurate and complete.

Anti-dumping and Countervailing Directorate will notify importers of preliminary and final determinations of dumping or subsidizing concerning specific imported goods. Importers will also be notified of SIMA enforcement activities while an injury finding by the Canadian International Trade Tribunal is in effect.

Applied against the importer.

Officer must be an authorized user of the SIMA Compliance Web site to be able to apply this penalty.

Seven days after the notification is issued the applicable SIMA code must be used on import transactions (i.e. B3).

In instances where an officer finds an importer in contravention for the first time, the officer must forward this information to Headquarters (HQ). HQ will issue the notification to the importer.

Refer to the Measures in Force in the Anti-dumping section of the CBSA Web site and the relevant D15 Memorandum to verify the goods are subject to the SIMA action.

Verify that the importer has been notified regarding the SIMA codes by referring to the case information on the SIMA Compliance Web site.

The obligation to code the B3 or B2 ends when the SIMA action is terminated by the CBSA or the CITT or the surtax expires, unless the importer has been given written notice that the coding of transactions is to continue.

The penalty will be applied per document, i.e. per B3 or B2.

Guidelines

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when mandatory prescribed information required to be provided by electronic or written means, in respect of imported or exported goods is untrue, inaccurate or incomplete.

One penalty will be issued per declaration or document regardless of number of errors or omissions in a permit, certificate, licence, document or declaration in respect of imported or exported goods.

The penalty will be applied against the person required to provide the information e.g. importer, exporter, carrier.

When an officer gives an opportunity to provide missing information on import documentation and a client fails to comply with this request, a penalty will be applied.

Where the mandatory prescribed information provided is incorrect, a penalty will be applied and a request for the correct information will be made. Officers will specify that a penalty will be issued on the reject notice.

The determination of issues related to origin, tariff classification and value for duty shall not be resolved at the border. No C005 penalty shall be issued by border services officers when mandatory 10-digit HS system code, value for duty and origin submitted are questionable. Border services officers should utilize the established regional methods, i.e., round-trip memorandum, A32, etc., to refer the matter to their local Compliance Verification Unit or Investigations.

C005 may apply to exporters and export carriers who have reported goods, but provided incorrect, incomplete or untrue information in the mandatory fields of the export declaration (export permit, licence or certificate, cargo control document, etc.)

All Other Government Department requirements must be met prior to release or export of the shipment.

C005 is not to be used where a more specific contravention exists.

For missing import permits, certificates or energy efficiency information, see C071.

For failure to account for imported goods at time of the release request, see C360.

For non-compliance involving certificates of origin, see C152 or C194.

For Export Summary Reporting violations, see C170 and C317.

For missing B13A Export Declaration for regular goods, see C170.

For missing B13A Export Declaration for controlled, regulated or prohibited goods, see C345.

For missing export permit, licences or certificates, see C315.

The issuance of C348 penalties is most suitable for routine finds of breaches where fact finding is straightforward and the evidence of a breach can be easily determined and proven.

Guidelines

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when the carrier fails to provide a bar coded cargo control number when reporting goods to the CBSA.

In the case of a Highway CSA participant submitting paper documents (Service Option 497), non-compliance occurs when the CSA transporter does not provide the following CSA data elements in a bar-coded format:

- CSA importer Business Number (BN),
- CSA carrier code,
- Secondary CSA carrier code when applicable.

If a complete Transport Document Number is provided, it must be bar coded as well.

Applied against the carrier or the transporter.

This penalty does not apply in the following situations:

a- Unreadable bar codes

The carrier must be advised that his bar codes are unreadable. The cargo control number must be input manually. Refer to D3-1-1, Appendix H for bar code specifications and testing procedures. (Contravention C005 is not applicable in these circumstances.)

b- For CSA participants

C008 does not apply in situations where the business number or carrier code provided is invalid (i.e. not CSA approved). In these situations, CSA clearance will be denied for the shipment and a non-CSA service option will be used.

c- Failed PARS

A failed Pre-Arrival Release System (PARS) is replaced by a handwritten or typed cargo control document (CCD) using the cargo control number of the original PARS document. Alternatively, carriers may use their pre-printed CCDs and cross out the existing bar coded CCN and show the CCN of the failed PARS in the "Previous cargo control number" field. In both cases, the wording "Failed PARS" must be written on the CCD to clarify why a bar code is not being used.

d- Where the Commercial Driver Registration Program (CDRP) or Fast and Secure Trade (FAST) barcode is not presented (i.e. driver forgot registration card), the information will be inputted manually. C008 does not apply.

Bar coded cargo control numbers are not required for:

Shipments being abstracted by a broker or sole importer for release purposes
Goods moving in-transit on a "Canada - US In transit manifest"
Air (AXX- or IATA assigned code)
Rail (6000 series)
Marine (9000 series)
Mail (E14 series)

Apply a penalty per conveyance regardless of the number of shipments.

When a bonded carrier fails to use his authorized bonded carrier code or fails to present a letter of authorization when using another bonded carrier's code, see C371.

The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when a broker fails to make available to an officer, within the time frame specified by the officer, and in the manner specified by regulation, any records that the customs broker is required by regulation to keep.

The information should be available in such a manner as to enable an officer to perform detailed audits and to obtain or verify information.

Failure to produce any or all records as detailed in the Customs Brokers Licensing Regulations, within the time period specified by an officer, shall be considered a single contravention.

It should be noted that, by regulation, customs brokers are required to keep records for a period of six years after the importation of the goods to which the information relates.

For example, the officer requested the broker to produce documentation relating to a clearance for a particular shipment. The broker did not provide, within the 30-day time frame assigned by the officer, the required information.

Non-compliance occurs when an unlicensed agent, or a person who is not qualified under the regulations or duly authorized to transact business as a customs broker by a person who holds a brokers licence performs customs brokers' licensed activities.

A penalty will be applied for each activity performed by an unlicensed broker, or by a person who is not qualified under the regulations or not duly authorized to transact business as a customs broker by a person who holds a brokers licence, and who performs customs brokers' licensed activities.

Guidelines

Every person in charge of a commercial conveyance arriving in Canada is required to proceed without delay to a designated customs office open for business prior to disembarking any persons, passengers, and/or crew.

Applies when commercial conveyances arrive at a place non-designated for customs clearance or arrives at a designated customs office that is not open for business. Consideration may be given based on weather conditions, emergencies or pre-arrival arrangements that have been made with customs office.

Applied against any commercial carrier that is in the business of transporting freight, crew and/or passengers and fails to report passengers or crew.

Apply to all modes of transportation.

In the air mode, the "customs office open for business" is the designated customs office where the air carrier is scheduled to land.

In the marine mode, the "customs office open for business" is the designated customs office where the marine carrier is scheduled to conduct a first stop.

In the highway mode, the "customs office open for business" is the first designated customs office where the highway carrier arrives in Canada.

In the rail mode, the "customs office open for business" is the designated customs office where the rail carrier is scheduled to conduct a first stop.

Apply a penalty per unreported person, passenger or crew member.

For failure to report conveyances inbound, see C023.

For post-audit carrier, except air mode, no penalty assessed if carrier provides proof, within 24 hours of arrival of the shipment, that Cargo Control Document (CCD) was prepared for goods prior to their arrival in Canada, as per D3-1-1.

For Specified Goods, additional sanctions will apply, including seizure and/or ascertained forfeiture.

Carriers have only one obligation per arrival; that is to report. In scenarios where the carrier has met their one obligation and numerous shipments have not been reported on their conveyance, the CBSA can issue the penalties based on the number of shipments not reported – however only one Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) can be issued.

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when the person who has reported goods under section 12 or the person who is stopped by an officer in accordance with subsection 99.(1) of the Customs Act fails to present goods, to remove any covering from goods, to unload any conveyance or open any part thereof, or failed to open or unpack any package or container when requested to do so by an officer.

Applied against person who reports the goods under section 12 of the Customs Act inside or outside Canada or person who is stopped by an officer in accordance with subsection 99.(1) of the Customs Act.

Officers should use discretion with regard to the term "available for examination" when goods are referred. For example, if the goods have arrived at the sufferance warehouse yard, but have not yet been off-loaded into the warehouse, no AMPS would be applicable.

If an RMD or RNS arrival notice is submitted or transmitted to the CBSA despite the person who reported goods under section 12 of the Customs Act having clearly indicated that the goods had not arrived, see C274.

In the case where the goods must be on hand at the time of the release request, and there are multiple containers documented on one cargo control document (against one release request), at least one of the containers must have arrived at the destination sufferance warehouse at the time the release request is submitted. The remaining containers must have arrived at the port of report and be en route or awaiting furtherance to the inland destination.

Should goods be referred for secondary processing, the importer / broker will be given an opportunity to provide information to the officer that the remaining goods have arrived in Canada and are en route or awaiting transportation to destination.

Requests for examinations must have enough detail for client to understand what is expected.

A reasonable amount of time to prepare the goods will be allowed. The term 'reasonable' is dependent on mode (for example marine operators will be given time to offload and stage the goods which is not required in other modes) and the nature or quality of the goods (such as hazardous goods that require special handling); extra time will be allotted to make the arrangements.

For situations where goods are moved or removed from the customs office or sufferance warehouse, see C033.

For non-compliance when the operator of a bonded warehouse or duty free shop fails to open any package or container of goods or fails to remove any covering to allow free access to the goods when an officer requests to see the goods in order to conduct an examination, refer to C047 or C357.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs in situations where goods have been reported under section 12(1) of the Customs Act:

- to CBSA at First Port of Arrival (FPOA), however, the in-bond goods are moved without authorization or delivered to the consignee, without release; or
- and are under CBSA control (at a CBSA office such as FPOA or inland office, highway frontier examining warehouse or a sufferance warehouse) and it is discovered by the CBSA that the goods have been removed from one of these locations without CBSA authorization.

Applied against a carrier or a sufferance warehouse operator.

Below are some examples of when C033 can be applied:

C033 is issued to the Carrier:

- where a carrier removes reported goods from a CBSA office or highway frontier examining warehouse without CBSA authorization;
- where goods have been reported to CBSA upon arrival at FPOA and the release of the goods will be affected at an CBSA inland office (the FPOA authorizes the bonded carrier to move the goods in-bond to an inland location for release) but the carrier directly delivers the goods to the importer/consignee rather than reporting to the inland office or sufferance warehouse;

- where a carrier moves in-bond goods from FPOA directly to a location identified by a sub-locator code, other than what is indicated on the original cargo transmission; or
- where a carrier has been directed to present the goods to a CBSA examining warehouse on form Y28 (Report to Warehouse), but fails to do so.

C033 is issued to the Sufferance Warehouse Operator:

- where a sufferance warehouse operator has received in-bond goods and allows the removal of in-bond goods from the warehouse prior to release or authorization by CBSA; or
- where a BSO discovers through secondary examination, monitoring activity, or an audit of the sufferance warehouse, that removal of in-bond goods has occurred prior to CBSA release;

Notes:

- In all cases, this penalty applies only if the contravention is found during a CBSA examination, tracing procedure or an audit and there is evidence to support that a contravention to section 31 has been made.
- This penalty will not be applied in situations where an importer, carrier or sufferance warehouse operator voluntarily discloses non-compliance to CBSA.
- This penalty will not be applied in circumstances involving domestic goods bound for export.

In an audit situation, each shipment found in contravention within an audit will be assessed a penalty. For example, if five shipments were moved, a penalty of $5,000 (5 × $1,000) would be assessed at first level.

Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when goods have been moved from point to point within Canada, without the appropriate bond or security, prior to having been released.

In an audit situation, each shipment found in contravention within a first audit will be assessed a first level penalty.

For example, if five shipments were transported within Canada, without the appropriate bond or security, a penalty of $2,500 (5 × $500) would be assessed. The same applies for the second and third level penalties.

For situations where goods are moved or removed from the customs office or sufferance warehouse, see C033.

For situations where goods are removed from a bonded warehouse or duty free shop prior to release, see C066.

Non-compliance occurs when a seal number appears on the Cargo Control Document (CCD) but the conveyance or container that was sealed for customs purposes, is not sealed when it reaches the agency's inland release point.

A carrier must ensure that, when the conveyance or container is sealed by the agency for inland movement or when the company applied seal is accepted and notated on CBSA documentation, the conveyance or container remains sealed until the agency's authorization to break the seal is granted at the agency's inland release point.

This penalty does not apply when the agency's seal has been broken and replaced with one issued by a Canadian Police Service, a Provincial or Federal Government Department / Agency in the administration or enforcement of an Act of Parliament or the Criminal Code.

Replacement seal(s) must be intact and the new seal numbers are documented on the cargo control document / manifest.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when the person who transported (carrier) or caused to be transported (transporter company) in bond goods fails to permit access to any premise under his control when a request was made by an officer.

Access must be granted to any place that is part of or attached to any place where goods transported in bond are reported, loaded, unloaded or stored.

The officer must first clearly indicate he is requesting access to the premises. This request may be done verbally or in writing upon or prior to arrival at the location for examination of the goods.

Penalty is applied if entry is prevented, refused or there is failure to take the necessary steps to allow access to the officer.

However, a security guard or an employee who refuses to allow the entry to the premises should not be considered as preventing / refusing entry, when he is, within a reasonable time frame, in the process of contacting or obtaining permission or authority from a person in charge of the operation.

Access to property or facilities can only take place at "reasonable times" construed to mean during business hours.

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when the owner, operator or person in charge of company fails to:

- a. keep prescribed records at specified place for three years in the prescribed manner; or
- b. make prescribed records available to an officer within the time specified; or
- c. answer truthfully questions asked by an officer about the prescribed records.

In the case of CSA transporters:

Commercial documentation (e.g., bill of lading, freight bill, waybill) requested at time of report should be limited to that necessary to make a risk determination for contraband or public safety (admissibility) and whether the goods are CSA eligible.

Records may include those which reflect the "start to end of a shipment", for example, bills of lading, invoices, and proof of delivery receipts for goods authorized for delivery to an approved importer.

Records may be hard copy or electronic; consolidated, multiple or separate records.

Circumstances surrounding each request will determine how much time is reasonable to allow person to produce information.

For example, during CSA monitoring review, the carrier was requested to provide proof of delivery for 24 shipments. The carrier could only provide proof for 22 of the 24 shipments. The CSA accounts manager gave the carrier two time extensions in which to provide the proof for the remaining two shipments, but the carrier was unable to provide the requested documentation. C044 may be issued in this instance.

A warehouse check is conducted resulting in goods not accounted for and it is discovered that records are missing.

Carrier failed to provide documents requested in writing via the cargo tracing process.

Prescribed substances within the meaning of the Atomic Energy Control Act or prescribed items within the meaning of the Atomic Energy Control Regulations must be removed from the sufferance warehouse within 14 days after the day on which they were reported under section 12 of the Act.

Tobacco products, distilled spirits, firearms, weapons and ammunition constitute a class of goods that are forfeit if they are not removed from a sufferance warehouse within 14 days after the day on which they were reported under section 12 of the Act.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when goods are removed from a bonded warehouse or duty free shop prior to authorization.

For example, the BSO requests from the warehouse operator to examine a shipment, but the warehouse operator advises CBSA that the shipment is not available for examination and it is determined that the shipment had been delivered to the importer without customs release or authorization.

Or, the BSO conducts a warehouse examination. Documentation indicates that certain imported goods that are supposed to be in the warehouse are not there.

Or, the Regional CBSA Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) conducts a thorough Duty Deferral verification. The results indicate some imported goods were not available and are consequently considered to have been delivered without release or authorization.

For specified goods, ascertained forfeiture to be applied in addition to AMPS penalty.

Guidelines

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when a person fails to provide a permit, licence, certificate or other document or information that is required by customs at time of interim or final accounting before the goods are released.

For example, a release request was received for a shipment of cheese without a permit.

Or, a release request for agricultural goods was transmitted with an incorrect service option bypassing the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) review process.

Although a penalty may be applied under this contravention all OGD admissibility requirements must be met prior to release. It is also possible that the OGD may have their own administrative monetary penalties.

Guidelines

* The term "per issue" applies to each good for which a preferential tariff treatment under a free trade agreement was incorrectly claimed and for which a correction was not made, regardless of how often the error is repeated on import documents.

The term "per occurrence" at the first, second, and third levels applies to each uncorrected error for which a preferential tariff treatment under a free trade agreement was incorrectly claimed per B3 accounting document and not per B3 line.

Non-compliance is normally discovered by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) as a result of an audit, examination, verification, or subsequent monitoring activity.

Applied against the importer of record.

Where customs duties and/or taxes would be owed as a result of required corrections, see C350.

Where there is a failure to correct a declaration that would result in a refund of customs duties, no penalty will apply.

Errors discovered during a second or subsequent audit, examination, verification, or monitoring activity, that are unrelated to the first penalty assessment will incur only first level penalties.

The SOTC must record in their report each error along with a detailed explanation of what constituted "reason to believe" for that error. This is required in order to establish the level of penalty for the next occurrence of the same error.

There will be a cap of $1,000 for each group of repeated and incorrect declarations where the client can demonstrate to the SOTC that the errors in the declaration were caused by a single keystroke / data entry error. This cap will apply only to first level penalties and only where corrections are made within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Any combination of penalties issued under C080 and C350 shall not exceed the maximum penalty amount for each specific level and shall include all penalties that are issued as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity. The maximum penalty amount for the first level is $5,000 (per issue) or $25,000 (per occurrence) depending on applicable reason to believe criterion. The conditions under which either of the $5,000 or $25,000 maximum penalties would be applied are explained in the First Level Penalties paragraph below. The maximum penalty amount for the second level remains unchanged at $200,000. The maximum penalty amount for the third level also remains unchanged at $400,000.

“Reason to Believe”

In regards to the obligation to self-correct under section 32.2 of the Customs Act, specific information regarding the origin that gives an importer reason to believe that a declaration is incorrect, can be found in:

- (a) legislative provisions such as specific origin provisions that are prima facie (i.e., at first sight), evident (obvious, apparent) and transparent (i.e., clear, self-explanatory). For example, proof of origin requirements under section 24 of the Customs Tariff and sections 35.1 of the Customs Act
- (b) formal assessment documents issued by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) to the importer, relating to the imported goods, such as determinations (other than “deemed determinations”), re-determinations, further re-determinations, etc.;
- (c) final tribunal or court decisions in which the importer was the appellant, respondent or intervenor;
- (d) information received from exporters, suppliers, etc. (e.g. cancellation of certificates of origin);
- (e) written communication, addressed directly to the importer from the CBSA, such as a ruling (e.g., advance ruling issued under section 43.1 of the Customs Act), or a trade compliance verification final report; or an official notification as a result of an exporter origin verification; or
- (f) a final report from an importer-initiated internal audit or review, or from an external company conducting an audit or review of an importer’s company.

First Level Penalties

Penalties apply where an importer failed to correct the origin of goods subject to a free trade agreement within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criterion (a):

First level penalties that are the result of criterion (a) will be assessed on a per issue basis for each issue not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each issue up to a maximum of $5,000. First level penalties will be assessed at $150 for each issue regardless of how often an error is repeated during the reassessment period, provided that all occurrence of the error are corrected within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Errors that are not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report will be assessed a penalty of $150 per occurrence to a maximum of $25,000.

Assessments of penalties on a “per issue” basis will not apply in circumstances where an importer fails to furnish any proof of origin upon request.

Example:

An importer declares multiple goods under an FTA preferential tariff treatment (FTA PTT) and has a valid multiple product or multi-page proof of origin in support of the majority of the declared goods. In the same shipment and under the same declaration, the importer incorrectly declares an FTA PTT for one or two goods that are not certified on the multi-product or multi-page proof of origin. If the importer corrects the tariff treatment errors within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, only one penalty of $150 for each good not covered by a certificate of origin will apply, regardless of how often the error is repeated over multiple accounting documents. If the error is not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, a $150 penalty will apply for each occurrence of the error throughout the reassessment period, to a maximum of $25,000.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criteria (b) through (f):

First level penalties that are the result of criteria (b) to (f) will be assessed on a per occurrence basis for each error not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each occurrence over the reassessment period up to a maximum of $25,000.

Example:

Where an importer has received information from an exporter (or producer) that advises a certificate of origin is no longer valid or that goods no longer qualify as originating, corrections to declarations of origin must be made within 90 days of receipt of this notification. This would be considered an importer’s “reason to believe” under criterion (d).

Second Level Penalties

Second level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a first level penalty within the retention period.

For the same origin errors previously assessed a penalty at the first level, a second level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the origin within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $200,000 for the reassessment period.

Second level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Third Level Penalties

Third level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a second level penalty within the retention period.

For the same origin errors previously assessed a penalty at the second level, a third level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the origin within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $400,000 for the reassessment period.

First Level Penalties

A tariff classification error occurs when a good is not classified and accounted for in accordance with the rules and schedules of the Customs Tariff Act. Penalties apply where an importer failed to correct the tariff classification of the good within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criterion (a):

First level penalties that are the result of criterion (a) will be assessed on a per issue basis for each issue not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each issue up to a maximum of $5,000. First level penalties will be assessed at $150 for each issue regardless of how often an error is repeated during the reassessment period, provided that all occurrence of the error are corrected within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Errors that are not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report will be assessed a penalty of $150 per occurrence to a maximum of $25,000.

Example:

Plastic conveyor belts are classified under Chapter 84 when they are specifically excluded by virtue of Note 1(a) to Section XVI, and the error was repeated on multiple accounting documents. Only one penalty of $150 will apply if the error is corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, regardless of how often the same error is repeated over multiple accounting documents. If the error is not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, a $150 penalty will apply for each occurrence of the error throughout the reassessment period, to a maximum of $25,000.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criteria (b) through (g):

First level penalties that are the result of criteria (b) through (g) will be assessed on a per occurrence basis for each error not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each occurrence over the assessment period up to a maximum of $25,000.

Second Level Penalties

Second level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a first level penalty within the retention period.

For the same tariff classification errors previously assessed a penalty at the first level, a second level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the tariff classification within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $200,000 for the reassessment period.

Guidelines

* The term "per issue" applies to each element of the value for duty provisions that is incorrect and for which a correction was not made, regardless of how often the error is repeated on import documents.

The term "per occurrence" at the first, second, and third levels applies to each uncorrected value for duty error per B3 accounting document and not per B3 line.

Non-compliance is normally discovered by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity.

Applied against the importer of record.

Where customs duties and/or taxes would be owed as a result of required corrections, see C353.

Where there is a failure to correct a declaration that would result in a refund of customs duties, no penalty will apply.

Errors discovered during a second or subsequent audit, examination, verification, or monitoring activity that are unrelated to the first penalty assessment will incur only first level penalties.

The SOTC must record in their report each error along with a detailed explanation of what constituted "reason to believe" for that error. This is required in order to establish the level of penalty for the next occurrence of the same error.

There will be a cap of $1,000 for each group of repeated and incorrect declarations where the client can demonstrate to the SOTC that the errors in the declaration were caused by a single keystroke / data entry error. This cap will apply only to first level penalties and only where corrections are made within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Any combination of penalties issued under C083 and C353 shall not exceed the maximum penalty amount for each specific level and shall include all penalties that are issued as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity. The maximum penalty amount for the first level is $5,000 (per issue) or $25,000 (per occurrence) depending on applicable reason to believe criterion. The conditions under which either of the $5,000 or $25,000 maximum penalties would be applied are explained in the First Level Penalties paragraph below. The maximum penalty amount for the second level remains unchanged at $200,000. The maximum penalty amount for the third level also remains unchanged at $400,000.

Errors in declarations of value for duty do not always lend themselves to a clear distinction on the assessment of penalties on a “per issue” or “per occurrence” basis. Where there is uncertainty over whether a penalty should be assessed on a “per issue” or “per occurrence” basis, officers are strongly encouraged to contact the Origin and Valuation Policy Unit for assistance in the assessment of penalties.

“Reason to Believe”

In regards to the obligation to self-correct under section 32.2 of the Customs Act, specific information regarding the value for duty that gives an importer reason to believe that a declaration is incorrect, can be found in:

- (a) legislative provisions such as specific valuation provisions that are prima facie (i.e., at first sight), evident (obvious, apparent) and transparent (i.e., clear, self-explanatory). For example, packaging or assists provisions;
- (b) formal assessment documents issued by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) to the importer, relating to the imported goods, such as determinations (other than “deemed determinations”), re-determinations, further re-determinations, etc.;
- (c) final tribunal or court decisions in which the importer was the appellant, respondent or intervenor;
- (d) information received from vendors, freight forwarders, exporters, suppliers, etc. (e.g. vendor’s invoice indicating retroactive price increase for goods already purchased);
- (e) written communication addressed directly to the importer from the CBSA such as a national customs ruling, or a trade compliance verification final report; or
- (f) a final report from an importer-initiated internal audit or review, or from an external company conducting an audit or review of an importer’s company.

First Level Penalties

A value for duty error occurs when the value for duty of goods is not determined in accordance with the requirements of sections 44 to 55 of the Customs Act. A value for duty error can be, but is not limited to, the use of the wrong valuation method or its improper application, the use of the incorrect price paid or payable, or not making each of the required adjustments as required under the valuation provisions of the Customs Act. Each will be considered a separate error. Penalties apply where an importer failed to correct the value for duty within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect.

For errors that have occurred as a result of “reason to believe” criterion (a):

First level penalties that are the result of criterion (a) will be assessed on a per issue basis for each issue not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each issue up to a maximum of $5,000. First level penalties will be assessed at $150 for each issue regardless of how often an error is repeated during the reassessment period, provided that all occurrence of the error are corrected within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Errors that are not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report will be assessed a penalty of $150 per occurrence to a maximum of $25,000.

Example:

An importer failed to make an adjustment for assists, as required under the provisions of 48(5)(a)(iii) of the Customs Act. If the error is corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, only one penalty of $150 to a maximum of $5,000 will apply regardless of how often the error is repeated over multiple accounting documents. If the error is not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, a $150 penalty will apply for each occurrence of each error throughout the reassessment period, to a maximum of $25,000.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criteria (b) through (f):

First level penalties that are the result of criteria (b) through (f) will be assessed on a per occurrence basis for each error not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each occurrence over the reassessment period up to a maximum of $25,000.

Second Level Penalties

Second level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same issues that have been assessed a first level penalty within the retention period.

For the same value for duty errors previously assessed a penalty at the first level, a second level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the value for duty within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect to a maximum of $200,000 for the reassessment period.

Second level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Third Level Penalties

Third level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same issues that have been assessed a second level penalty within the retention period.

For the same value for duty errors previously assessed a penalty at the second level, a third level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the value for duty within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $400,000 for the reassessment period.

Third level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when, subsequent to a written request, the importer or owner of the goods fails to furnish proof of origin or the proof of origin presented does not support the tariff treatment claimed in the original (final) accounting document. Specific proofs of origin required in support of a claim for a specific tariff treatment are set out in Departmental Memorandum D11-4-2, Proof of Origin.

Non-compliance occurs where a signature is required, but is not included in the proof of origin presented.

Applied against the importer.

Normally applied by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC).

SOTCs must make a request and provide reasonable amount of time for the client to comply. Current policy is a minimum of five business days with one extension.

Apply a penalty per request, regardless of the number of transactions or documents pertaining to that request.

This penalty also applies when the blanket period field, with respect to free trade agreements where a certificate of origin is the required proof, is missing and there is no indication on the document of a reference number such as the invoice number, the purchase order number or any other unique reference indicator that could be used to identify that the goods covered by the certificate are the imported goods.

C152 does not apply when a certificate of origin is not properly completed or field information, other than a signature, is missing or omitted. In this situation, see C005.

Applicable to all tariff treatments.

Non-compliance occurs when a verification, audit or examination determines that a company, already known to keep records, does not make records available to an officer for review purposes.

Applied against the importer.

This penalty is normally applied by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) and approved by the regional Manager, Trade Compliance.

Records can be made available on-site at the company premises, delivered directly to the officer's place of work, or made available at another place as designated by the Minister (Non-Resident Importers may undertake to keep records at their Canadian customs broker's office).

SOTCs must use discretion when deciding how much time to allow the importer to make records available. Thirty days may be considered reasonable as a minimum.

This contravention is subject to graduated penalties and is applied on a per request basis, which will be made in writing and may involve more than one record.

Typically, only one written request for records would be made per audit, verification, or examination.

The first contravention is subject to a $300 penalty.

Non-compliance occurs when an audit, verification or examination determines that a licensee of a duty free shop or sufferance warehouse has kept no records regarding the receipt and removal of commercial goods into and from the duty free shop or sufferance warehouse.

Applied against the licensee (warehouse or DFS), certificate holder (duty deferral), courier or CSA importer.

Because no records exist, the audit or verification team is unable to proceed with the verification and render a determination regarding the company's compliance with CBSA administered legislation and regulations.

Consultation with regional management and headquarters personnel must occur prior to the application of this penalty.

The officer should proceed with caution.

The officer should use discretion when deciding how much time to allow the company to prove that records exist. Thirty days may be considered reasonable as a minimum.

This contravention is subject to a flat penalty amount of $25,000.

- e. if the goods are exported by highway or any other mode of transportation, they must be reported immediately before being exported, i.e. before the conveyance transporting the goods crosses the border or leaves Canada.

Applied against the exporter.

Note: live animals or time-sensitive goods may, unless they are prohibited, controlled or regulated goods, be reported immediately before they are exported, regardless of mode.

The broker must account to the client for all funds received from the CBSA. A refund cheque (from a B2) should always be made out in the name of the importer and should not be cashed by the broker, unless specifically authorized by a "power of attorney".

A contravention will become apparent following either an audit or a complaint from a client and subsequent investigation by regional officials.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when the importer/broker submits a post arrival release request (i.e. RMD) prior to the authorized time frames for the release of goods.

- Applies if a RMD was submitted or transmitted by the importer or broker, despite the fact that the carrier had clearly indicated that the goods had not arrived by means of a future estimated time of arrival (ETA).
- In the case of a RMD, the importer / broker should supply customs with a copy of the cargo control document provided by the carrier. If the carrier did not indicate an ETA or provided an incorrect ETA for the arrival of the goods, the importer should not receive a penalty.
- In the case of a release request (i.e. RMD) presented prior to the arrival, "per instance" pertains to "per transaction" that is submitted to customs by the importer or broker outside of the authorized time frames regardless of the number of shipments attached to the RMD.

Non-compliance also occurs when the sender of a Release Notification System (RNS) arrival message (i.e. sufferance warehouse operator or carrier) submits the RNS prior to the authorized time frames for the release of goods.

- If a RNS arrival certification was transmitted, despite the fact that the carrier had clearly indicated that the goods have not arrived by means of a future ETA, the penalty would apply to the person who transmitted the arrival notice (in most cases the sufferance warehouse operator).
- In the case of an RNS "arrival" message sent prior to the arrival, "per instance" pertains to each "cargo control number" that was transmitted to customs as "arrived" outside of the authorized time frames by the carrier or sufferance warehouse operator.

In both situations, the importer RMD submission and the RNS arrival, the goods must either be at the customs office (i.e. sufferance warehouse) of clearance or en route to the customs office of clearance, according to the time frames for the release of goods.

The officer will use discretion as to the time frame that the goods must be made available for examination, i.e. where the goods must be on hand for a RMD, in the case of a freight forwarder deconsolidation, the sufferance warehouse operator will be given an opportunity to show that the goods are at least in the warehouse compound and will be off-loaded into the warehouse for examination within a reasonable amount of time.

In the case where the goods must be on hand at the time of the release request, and there are multiple containers documented on one cargo control document (against one release request), at least one of the containers must have arrived at the destination sufferance warehouse at the time the release request is submitted. The remaining containers must have arrived at the port of report and be en route or awaiting furtherance to the inland destination.

For situations where the goods are not available for examination, see C026.

The following table summarizes the earliest acceptable release time frames for the arrival of goods by the various modes of transport and service options:

Mode	Carrier Document type* on RMD or PARS	Release Service Option	Condition	Earliest Time Frame to Report Arrival of PARS or Submit a RMD According to Conveyance Arrival
Air	Primary or Secondary	PARS	PARS received and processed	Wheels up to destination customs office
	Primary	RMD	Cargo data made available to customs in an electronic format for pre-arrival review	Wheels up to destination customs office

	Primary	RMD	Cargo data made available to customs in an electronic format for pre-arrival review	1 hour non-stop to Canada

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when importer fails to present the final accounting documentation and have it accepted by the custom system within the prescribed time limit of the 5th day after the goods have been released.

Applied against the importer.

Customs Commercial System (CCS) will automatically generate a $100 late accounting penalty for each overdue B3 that is greater than $2,500.

In non-automated ports, the officer would manually issue this penalty on a K23 for $100 for each overdue B3.

The officer is not to issue a Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) in ICS when this non-compliance is discovered.

The five day delay begins on the next business day following the day of release; the day of release is counted as day 0. When goods are released on a Saturday, Sunday, or holiday, the accounting period starts on the first business day after release; the first business day after release is counted as day 0.

Where circumstances beyond a client's control (CBSA error or delay, natural or human made disaster, system failure, etc.) causes this late accounting penalty, the client can request for a waiver or cancellation under section 3.3 of the Customs Act by using Form E571, to the releasing office or to HQ (Brokers Licensing).

Non-compliance occurs when the person fails to repay the amount over and above the amount of the refund, drawback, or interest for which he was eligible, on the day that the refund or drawback is received.

Non-compliance is discovered as result of a review or verification.

Applied against the person who was not eligible for a refund, drawback, or interest or who has not repaid any amount over and above that for which he was eligible.

Where the overpayment is a result of a change of information from a third party about whom the client has no knowledge, the penalty will not apply.

The officer is to issue the penalty in ICS when this non-compliance is discovered.

This is in the instance of an individual transaction.

Applied against the courier if the goods are casual which are covered by subsection 32(5)(a) of the Customs Act, or applied against the importer if the goods are commercial which are covered by subsection 32(5)(b) of the Customs Act.

In the Courier Low Value Shipment Program (CLVS), the release of the reported shipments is not system generated. The release process is completed by an officer (it is not done in ACROSS). Release occurs through the paper copy of a Cargo/Release List or through a third-party courier system), there is no automatic control check for late accounting of the F type entries presented by customs brokers.

Note:

While couriers are responsible to report and release shipments in the CLVS, that does not mean that they are responsible to account for the goods. As per 32(5) of the Customs Act, two entities could be responsible, the courier (if casual goods) or the importer (if commercial goods).

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs and a penalty is assessed against an importer when:

- the importer has their own account security and fails to pay their K84 in full by the date specified on the K84;
- their broker short-remits their K84 when the importer uses the Importer Direct Security or GST Direct Payment Options. In these situations, brokers must have provided their central payment office with the Option Agreement and HQ acknowledgment. The penalty is applied against the importer indicated on the customs broker's reconciliation sheet.

Non-compliance occurs and a penalty is assessed against a broker when:

the broker does not pay their K84 in full by the date specified on the K84;
the broker only partially pays their K84 (i.e. short-pays, not short remits).

Penalty is applied against the broker's business number.

In addition to the penalty, a K23 is still issued as a result of a late-payment on a K84. There will not be an additional penalty for the late payment of the K23.

Non-compliance occurs and a penalty is assessed by CSA compliance manager against a CSA importer when:

- the total Revenue Summary Form (RSF) amount has not been remitted to a financial institution within the prescribed time limits.
- If RSF received, but no payment received at financial institution, the CSA compliance manager will contact importer to determine if payment has been made at a CBSA office.

No penalty should be assessed in cases where:

- no interim payment (subject to late payment interest only); or
- payment made to CBSA office by last business day of month.

The following should be considered prior to issuing C336:

- verify if there was a notice issued by the Assessment Unit (HQ) to allow for late payment of the K84 without the interest or penalties in certain months of the year, and determine whether or not the procedures in the notice were followed properly;
- verify if a payment was made at another CBSA office.

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when a person (importer) transmits the release request to an office other than where goods are to be presented for entry into Canada.

An electronic release client transmits their post-arrival service option (i.e. Release on Minimum Documentation -RMD) to the Accelerated Commercial Release Operations Support System (ACROSS) with an incorrect customs office code.

For example, an importer or agent transmits the RMD release request to customs office "X" but the goods arrived at a different location. This may result in information not being available for targeting at the appropriate location.

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when a person has not answered truthfully questions relating to exportation of goods that are subject to export control.

For example, an officer reviews the information provided for a shipment, which shows that the goods were consigned to a party in a country not controlled by export regulations. However, during an examination of the goods, the officer finds the bill of sale, which shows that the goods were purchased by and consigned to a party in a controlled country. Officer contacts the exporter to confirm the final destination of goods and the exporter indicates that the final destination of the goods is the non-controlled country, which is untrue. Penalty C346 may be applied.

In addition to the AMPS penalty, if the export of the goods would pose a security risk, goods may be seized as forfeit.

Guidelines

* The term "per issue" applies to each good for which a preferential tariff treatment under a free trade agreement was incorrectly claimed and for which a correction was not made, regardless of how often the error is repeated on import documents.

The term "per occurrence" at the first, second, and third levels applies to each uncorrected error for which a preferential tariff treatment under a free trade agreement was incorrectly claimed per B3 accounting document and not per B3 line.

Non-compliance is normally discovered by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity.

Applied against the importer of record.

Contravention C350 applies only in cases where customs duties and/or taxes would be payable by the importer as a result of a required correction. Where customs duties and/or taxes would not be owed as a result of required corrections, see C080.

Contravention C080 will not be applied in addition to this contravention.

Errors discovered during a second or subsequent audit, examination, verification, or monitoring activity, that are unrelated to the first penalty assessment will incur only first level penalties.

The SOTC must record in their report each error along with a detailed explanation of what constituted "reason to believe" for that error. This is required in order to establish the level of penalty for the next occurrence of the same error.

There will be a cap of $1,000 for each group of repeated and incorrect declarations where the client can demonstrate to the SOTC that the errors in the declaration were caused by a single keystroke / data entry error. This cap will apply only to first level penalties and only where corrections are made within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Any combination of penalties issued under C080 and C350 shall not exceed the maximum penalty amount for each specific level and shall include all penalties that are issued as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity. The maximum penalty amount for the first level is $5,000 (per issue) or $25,000 (per occurrence) depending on applicable reason to believe criterion. The conditions under which either of the $5,000 or $25,000 maximum penalties would be applied are explained in the First Level Penalties paragraph below. The maximum penalty amount for the second level remains unchanged at $200,000. The maximum penalty amount for the third level also remains unchanged at $400,000.

“Reason to Believe”

In regards to the obligation to self-correct under section 32.2 of the Customs Act, specific information regarding the origin that gives an importer reason to believe that a declaration is incorrect, can be found in:

- (a) legislative provisions such as specific origin provisions that are prima facie (i.e., at first sight), evident (obvious, apparent) and transparent (i.e., clear, self-explanatory). For example, proof of origin requirements under section 24 of the Customs Tariff, section 35.1 of the Customs Act and proof of origin requirements stated in Memorandum D11-4-2;
- (b) formal assessment documents issued by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) to the importer, relating to the imported goods, such as determinations (other than “deemed determinations”), re-determinations, further re-determinations, etc.;
- (c) final tribunal or court decisions in which the importer was the appellant, respondent or intervenor;
- (d) information received from exporters, suppliers, etc. (e.g., cancellation of certificates of origin);
- (e) written communication addressed directly to the importer from the CBSA, such as a ruling (e.g., advance ruling issued under section 43.1 of the Customs Act), a trade compliance verification final report; or
- (f) a final report from an importer-initiated internal audit or review, or from an external company conducting an audit or review of an importer’s company.

First Level Penalties

Penalties apply where an importer failed to correct the origin of goods subject to a free trade agreement within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criterion (a):

First level penalties that are the result of criterion (a) will be assessed on a per issue basis for each issue not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each issue up to a maximum of $5,000. First level penalties will be assessed at $150 for each issue regardless of how often an error is repeated during the reassessment period, provided that all occurrence of the error are corrected within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Errors that are not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report will be assessed a penalty of $150 per occurrence to a maximum of $25,000.

Assessments of penalties on a “per issue” basis will not apply in circumstances where an importer fails to furnish any proof of origin upon request.

Example:

An importer declares multiple goods under an FTA preferential tariff treatment (FTA PTT) and has valid multi-product or multi-page proof of origin in support of the majority of the declared goods. In the same shipment and under the same declaration, the importer incorrectly declares an FTA PTT for one or two goods that are not certified on the multi-product or multi-page proof of origin. If the importer corrects the tariff treatment errors within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, only one penalty of $150 for each good not covered by a certificate of origin will apply, regardless of how often the error is repeated over multiple accounting documents. If the error is not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, a $150 penalty will apply for each occurrence of the error throughout the reassessment period, to a maximum of $25,000.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criteria (b) through (f):

First level penalties that are the result of criteria (b) to (f), there will be assessed on a per occurrence basis for each error not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each occurrence over the reassessment period up to a maximum of $25,000.

Example:

Where an importer has received information from an exporter (or producer) that informs them a certificate of origin is no longer valid or that goods no longer qualify as originating, corrections to declarations of origin must be made within 90 days of receipt of this notification. This would be considered an importer’s “reason to believe” under criterion (d).

Second Level Penalties

Second level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a first level penalty within the retention period.

For the same origin errors previously assessed a penalty at the first level, a second level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the origin within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect to a maximum of $200,000 for the reassessment period.

Second level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Third Level Penalties

Third level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a second level penalty within the retention period.

For the same origin errors previously assessed a penalty at the second level, a third level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the origin within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $400,000 for the reassessment period.

Guidelines

* The term "per issue" applies to each uncorrected tariff classification error of a good regardless of how often that error is repeated on import documents. A "good" also includes the same and similar goods that have the same function as the goods being verified, that differ in a manner (e.g., size, colour, capacity) that does not alter the tariff classification of the goods at the tariff item level.

The term "per occurrence" at the first, second, and third levels applies to each uncorrected tariff classification error of a good per B3 accounting document and not per B3 line.

Non-compliance is normally discovered by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity.

Applied against the importer of record.

Contravention C352 applies only in cases where customs duties and/or taxes are payable by the importer as a result of the correction. Where customs duties and/or taxes would not be owed as a result of required corrections, see C082.

Contravention C352 also applies when importers had "reason to believe" that declarations in respect of excise duty, excise tax and/or the goods and services tax (GST) were in error and failed to correct the error within 90 days of the date of the "reason to believe". Errors with respect to excise duty, excise tax and/or the GST are treated as "tariff classification errors" for purposes of paragraph 32.2(2)(b) of the Customs Act.

Contravention C082 will not be applied in addition to this contravention.

Errors discovered during a second or subsequent audit, examination, verification, or monitoring activity, that are unrelated to the first penalty assessment will incur only first level penalties.

The SOTC must record in their report each error along with a detailed explanation of what constituted “reason to believe” for that error. This is required in order to establish the level of penalty for the next occurrence of the same error.

There will be a cap of $1,000 for each group of repeated and incorrect declarations where the client can demonstrate to the SOTC that the errors in the declaration were caused by a single keystroke / data entry error. This cap will apply only to first level penalties and only where corrections are made within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Any combination of penalties issued under C082 and C352 shall not exceed the maximum penalty amount for each specific level and shall include all penalties that are issued as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity. The maximum penalty amount for the first level is $5,000 (per issue) or $25,000 (per occurrence) depending on applicable reason to believe criterion. The conditions under which either of the $5,000 or $25,000 maximum penalties would be applied are explained in the First Level Penalties paragraph below. The maximum penalty amount for the second level remains unchanged at $200,000. The maximum penalty amount for the third level also remains unchanged at $400,000.

“Reason to Believe”

In regards to the obligation to self-correct under section 32.2 of the Customs Act, specific information regarding the tariff classification or diversion of the imported goods that gives an importer reason to believe that a declaration is incorrect, can be found in:

- (a) legislative provisions such as specific tariff provisions that are prima facie (i.e., at first sight), evident (i.e., obvious, apparent), and transparent (i.e., clear, self-explanatory). For example:
 - i) Obvious classification
0104.10.00
- - - (Live sheep and goats) Sheep
 - ii) Involving conditional relief which is contingent upon a specific use 0812.10.10.00
- - -Pitted sweet cherries, with stems, provisionally preserved by sulphur dioxide gas, for use in the manufacture of maraschino cherries with stems;
- (b) formal assessment documents issued by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) to the importer, relating to the imported goods, such as determinations (other than “deemed determinations”), re-determinations, further re-determinations, etc.;
- (c) final tribunal or court decisions in which the importer was the appellant, respondent or intervenor;
- (d) information received from exporters, suppliers, manufacturers or producers, etc. (e.g., change in production material or functionality that would impact the tariff classification);
- (e) written communication addressed directly to the importer from the CBSA such as a ruling (e.g., national customs ruling), an advance ruling under section 43.1 of the Customs Act, or a trade compliance verification final report;
- (f) a final report from an importer-initiated internal audit or review, or from an external company conducting an audit or review of an importer’s company; or
- (g) knowledge that the goods no longer qualify or comply with a condition of relief or a restriction imposed by the concessionary tariff item declared (e.g., goods diverted to a non-qualified conditional use or conditional user).

First Level Penalties

A tariff classification error occurs when a good is not classified and accounted for in accordance with the rules and schedules of the Customs Tariff Act. Penalties apply where an importer failed to correct the tariff classification of the good within 90 days after having reason to believe that the declaration was incorrect.

For errors that have occurred as a result of “reason to believe” criterion (a):

First level penalties that are the result of criterion (a) will be assessed on a per issue basis for each issue not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each issue up to a maximum of $5,000. First level penalties will be assessed at $150 for each issue regardless of how often an error is repeated during the reassessment period, provided that all occurrence of the error are corrected within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Errors that are not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report will be assessed a penalty of $150 per occurrence to a maximum of $25,000.

Example:

Plastic conveyor belts are classified under Chapter 84 when they are specifically excluded by virtue of Note 1(a) to Section XVI, and the error was repeated on multiple accounting documents. Only one penalty of $150 will apply if the error is corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, regardless of how often the same error is repeated over multiple accounting documents. If the error is not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, a $150 penalty will apply for each occurrence of the error throughout the reassessment period, to a maximum of $25,000.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criteria (b) through (g):

First level penalties that are the result of criteria (b) to (g) will be assessed on a per occurrence basis for each error not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each occurrence over the reassessment period up to a maximum of $25,000.

Second Level Penalties

Second level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a first level penalty within the retention period.

For the same tariff classification errors previously assessed a penalty at the first level, a second level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the tariff classification within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect to a maximum of $200,000 for the reassessment period.

Second level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Third Level Penalties

Third level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same goods that have been assessed a second level penalty within the retention period.

For the same tariff classification errors previously assessed a penalty at the second level, a third level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the tariff classification within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $400,000 for the reassessment period.

Third level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Guidelines

* The term "per issue" applies to each element of the value for duty provisions that is incorrect and for which a correction was not made, regardless of how often the error is repeated on import documents.

The term "per occurrence" at the first, second, and third levels applies to each uncorrected value for duty error per B3 accounting document and not per B3 line.

Non-compliance is normally discovered by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) as a result of an audit, examination, verification, or subsequent monitoring activity.

Applied against the importer of record.

Contravention C353 applies only in cases where customs duties and/or taxes are payable by the importer as a result of the correction. Where customs duties and/or taxes would not be owed as a result of required corrections, see C083.

Contravention C083 will not be applied in addition to this contravention.

Errors discovered during a second or subsequent audit, examination, verification, or monitoring activity that are unrelated to the first penalty assessment will incur only first level penalties.

The SOTC must record in their report each error along with a detailed explanation of what constituted "reason to believe" for that error. This is required in order to establish the level of penalty for the next occurrence of the same error.

There will be a cap of $1,000 for each group of repeated and incorrect declarations where the client can demonstrate to the SOTC that the errors in the declaration were caused by a single keystroke / data entry error. This cap will apply only to first level penalties and only where corrections are made within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Any combination of penalties issued under C083 and C353 shall not exceed the maximum penalty amount for each specific level and shall include all penalties that are issued as a result of an audit, examination, verification or subsequent monitoring activity. The maximum penalty amount for the first level is $5,000 (per issue) or $25,000 (per occurrence) depending on applicable reason to believe criterion. The conditions under which either of the $5,000 or $25,000 maximum penalties would be applied are explained in the First Level Penalties paragraph below. The maximum penalty amount for the second level remains unchanged at $200,000. The maximum penalty amount for the third level also remains unchanged at $400,000.

Errors in declarations of value for duty do not always lend themselves to a clear distinction on the assessment of penalties on a “per issue” or “per occurrence” basis. Where there is uncertainty over whether a penalty should be assessed on a “per issue” or “per occurrence” basis, officers are strongly encouraged to contact the Origin and Valuation Policy Unit through the functional guidance process for assistance in the assessment of penalties.

“Reason to Believe”

In regards to the obligation to self-correct under section 32.2 of the Customs Act, specific information regarding the value for duty that gives an importer reason to believe that a declaration is incorrect, can be found in:

- (a) legislative provisions such as specific valuation provisions that are prima facie (i.e., at first sight), evident (obvious, apparent) and transparent (i.e., clear, self-explanatory). For example, packaging or assists provisions;
- (b) formal assessment documents issued by the Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) to the importer, relating to the imported goods, such as determinations (other than “deemed determinations”), re-determinations, further re-determinations, etc.;
- (c) final tribunal or court decisions in which the importer was the appellant, respondent or intervenor;
- (d) information received from vendors, freight forwarders, exporters, suppliers, etc. (e.g. vendor’s invoice indicating retroactive price increase for goods already purchased);
- (e) written communication addressed directly to the importer or the importer’s agent from the CBSA such as a national customs ruling, or a trade compliance verification final report; or
- (f) a final report from an importer-initiated internal audit or review, or from an external company conducting an audit or review of an importer’s company.

First Level Penalties

A value for duty error occurs when the value for duty of goods is not determined in accordance with the requirements of sections 44 to 55 of the Customs Act. A value for duty error can be, but is not limited to, the use of the wrong valuation method or its improper application, the use of the incorrect price paid or payable, or not making each of the required adjustments as required under the valuation provisions of the Customs Act. Each will be considered a separate error. Penalties apply where an importer failed to correct the value for duty within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criterion (a):

First level penalties that are the result of criterion (a) will be assessed on a per issue basis for each issue not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each issue up to a maximum of $5,000. First level penalties will be assessed at $150 for each issue regardless of how often an error is repeated during the reassessment period, provided that all occurrence of the error are corrected within 90 days of the date of the trade compliance verification final report.

Errors that are not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report will be assessed a penalty of $150 per occurrence to a maximum of $25,000.

Example:

An importer failed to make an adjustment for assists, as required under the provisions of 48(5)(a)(iii) of the Customs Act. If the error is corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, only one penalty of $150 to a maximum of $5,000 will apply regardless of how often the error is repeated over multiple accounting documents. If the error is not corrected within 90 days of receiving the trade compliance verification final report, a $150 penalty will apply for each occurrence of each error throughout the reassessment period, to a maximum of $25,000.

For errors that have occurred as a result of reason to believe criteria (b) through (f):

First level penalties that are the result of criteria (b) through (f) will be assessed on a per occurrence basis for each error not corrected within 90 days of having “reason to believe”. A penalty of $150 will be assessed for each occurrence over the reassessment period up to a maximum of $25,000.

Second Level Penalties

Second level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same issues that have been assessed a first level penalty within the retention period.

For the same value for duty errors previously assessed a penalty at the first level, a second level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the value for duty within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect to a maximum of $200,000 for the reassessment period.

Second level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

Third Level Penalties

Third level penalties can only be applied to errors made on the same issues that have been assessed a second level penalty within the retention period.

For the same value for duty errors previously assessed a penalty at the second level, a third level penalty will apply following all subsequent audits, examinations, verifications, or monitoring activity for each declaration (B3) where the importer failed to correct the value for duty within 90 days after having “reason to believe” that the declaration was incorrect, to a maximum of $400,000 for the reassessment period.

Third level penalties would also apply to all adjustments made by importers where they failed to correct declarations within 90 days of having “reason to believe” that corrections are required.

The officer determines that there had been a false RNS message presented to customs as a release. Therefore, C359 is issued.

Guidelines

Failure to account for goods upon submission of a release request, significantly impairs the CBSA's ability to risk assess the admissibility of the good(s) ensuring the health, safety and security of Canadians.

Non-compliance occurs when it is found during an examination of goods based on a referral of the release request (e.g. RMD, PARS, B3) that goods are not accounted for by the importer at time of interim accounting or presentation of a B3, prior to the release of the goods at a customs office.

Applied against the importer.

Additional paperwork presented by the carrier at time of report in accordance with subsection 12(1) of the Customs Act, does not exempt the importer from fulfilling their obligations to account for all goods under subsections 32(1) and (2) of the Customs Act.

In accordance with the Broker Licensing Regulations, carriers are not permitted to account for goods on behalf of an importer. In addition to the Regulations, Memorandum D1-6-1, Authority to Act as Agent, further stipulates an agent representing an importer for purposes of accounting for goods must be licensed to transact business with the CBSA as a licensed Customs broker OR act on behalf of the importer on a casual basis and without benefit of any compensation, fee or charge. This former requirement precludes carriers from acting on behalf of the importer unless they are a licensed custom broker.

The below scenarios are provided for purposes of properly administering C360:

Scenario 1

100 televisions are accounted for on the release request. Upon examination, the shipment is found to contain 100 televisions and 10 bicycles.

Or

100 televisions were accounted for on the release request. Upon examination, the shipment is found to contain 100 computers.

C360 would apply as the bicycles and/or computers were not accounted for at all.

Scenario 2

100 televisions were accounted for on the release request. Upon examination, the shipment is found to contain 150 televisions

C005 would be the more applicable penalty in this scenario since the commodity was accounted for (and, therefore, the CBSA is able to risk assess the commodity), but the quantity was inaccurate.

The Y50, Reject Document Control, process requesting corrected or additional information is a necessary step in order to reach a final release decision and to ensure the release request is true, accurate and complete. Issuance of a Y50 does not remove the applicability of an AMP penalty being issued as a result of the related contravention occurring.

Although a penalty may be applied under this contravention all OGD admissibility requirements must be met at time of release. OGDs may also apply their own administrative monetary penalties.

For failure to provide permits licences, certificates, other documents or information that is required by OGDs, see C071. However, should circumstances arise where an undeclared commodity also results in failure to provide permits, licences, certificates, other documents or information that would have otherwise been required at time of release, C360 should be applied in lieu of C071.

For contraventions relating to undervaluation through false written receipts or information, see C348.

For failure by a carrier to report goods under subsection 12 (1), see C021.

For failure by a person who does not use the services of a carrier to report goods under subsections 12 (1) and (3), see C366.

For failure to account for imported goods found during a trade compliance verification or audit, see C070.

Non-compliance occurs when a person who does not use the services of a carrier to transport commercial goods into Canada fails to report goods, i.e. importers transporting their own commercial goods into Canada or travelers bringing commercial goods as part of their luggage fail to report.

If the importer or person transporting the goods is a non-resident, it is preferable to seize the commercial goods and offer AMPS penalty as terms of release.

If the importer does not have a client identifier and refuses to apply for a Business Number, officers should contact AMPS Help Desk Support to request a Sub-office Locator number in order to assess the penalty in AMPS system.

Do not apply against the importer in cases where the importer has used a carrier.

Occurs when unreported commercial goods are found.

For failure by a carrier to report imported goods, see C021.

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs once per export movement when the carrier fails to report cargo by submitting the required cargo control document(s), according to legislated time frames, at the prescribed Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) export reporting office

Applied against a carrier.

In transit Cargo:

For the purposes of C369, an in transit movement shall be considered as the movement of goods from a point outside Canada to another point outside Canada through Canada.

Subject to the exceptions listed below, goods originating from a place outside Canada moving in transit through Canada to a place outside Canada must be reported, in writing, by the carrier prior to export as follows:

- If the cargo is exported by mail, at the export reporting office located closest to the post office where the goods are mailed;
- If the cargo is exported by vessel, at the export reporting office located closest to the place where the cargo is loaded aboard the vessel for export;

- If the cargo is exported by aircraft, at the export reporting office located closest to the place of departure of the aircraft from Canada;
- If the cargo is exported by rail, at the export reporting office located closest to the place where the railcar on which the cargo is loaded is assembled to form part of a train for export;
- If the cargo is exported by any other means, at the export reporting office located closest to the place of exit of the cargo from Canada.
- Unless requested by an officer, the above requirement for goods exported by highway does not apply to procedures that Canada and the United States have established for documenting and controlling goods transiting through their respective countries under A8B procedures contained in D3-4-5, Highway Cargo - In Transit Movements

All other Cargo

Subject to the exception listed below, all other cargo must be reported in writing by the carrier prior to export at the export reporting office closest to the place where the cargo was loaded on board the conveyance for export.

Exception

Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) Carriers:

Carriers approved as participants under the "Memorandum of Understanding for Carrier Export Reporting" with the CBSA are required to report cargo, in writing, according to the following time frames:

- If the cargo is exported by vessel, within three business days after the departure of the vessel from the place in Canada where it is loaded;
- If the cargo is exported by rail, within one business day after the day on which the railcar on which the cargo is loaded is assembled to form part of a train for export;

Guidelines

Non-compliance occurs when a carrier or freight forwarder uses a carrier code belonging to a bonded carrier without a letter of authorization. The carrier should be afforded an opportunity to obtain the letter of authorization. The carrier will not be allowed to proceed inland using the unauthorized carrier code. The carrier will have to either use his own bonded carrier code or obtain a single trip bond.

Non-compliance also occurs when a highway carrier or freight forwarder has been assigned a carrier code for over a month but is still presenting pre-printed A8A 77YY cargo control documents.

If the carrier has on hand their barcodes and an opportunity is provided for correction at time of report and prior to release, C371 is not to be applied. C371 will apply if not corrected at time of report.

Monitoring sheets are required to be filled out for any carriers utilizing 77YY (who have not been assigned a carrier code), in order to prepare for eManifest. Monitoring sheets are to be faxed to 613-957-9717.

Letters of authorizations are not required for:

- 1) conveyance registered to:
 - a) the carrier whose code is being used, or
 - b) owner/operator under exclusive contract to the carrier whose code is being used, or
 - c) co-registered to the carrier whose code is being used
- 2) shipments moving under an authorized "marine overland movement" (D3-5-2)
- 3) shipments transferred under an interline agreement
- 4) transborder air shipments in highway service (flying trucks D3-2-2)

Guidelines

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs in instances where an officer finds, following a secondary examination or investigation, non-reported dutiable goods for which duty is owing.

Applied against any person found in possession of imported goods.

Normally applied to a person who is not the importer, but who has imported goods in their possession.

If the person is a non-resident, it is preferable to seize the commercial goods and offer AMPS penalty as terms of release.

If the person does not have a client identifier and refuses to apply for a Business Number, in this case, officers should contact AMPS Help Desk Support to request a Sub-office Locator number in order to assess the penalty in AMPS system.

Although a penalty may be applied under this contravention all OGD admissibility requirements must be met prior to release. It is also possible that the OGD may have their own administrative monetary penalties.

Guidelines

* A 30-day delay in the escalation of penalty levels from the first to the second will apply to this contravention. Should a second penalty with the same contravention be issued against the same client, the system will not escalate the penalty level to level two unless 30 days have transpired from when the first Notice of Penalty Assessment (NPA) was issued or the infraction occurred. The non-escalation rule applies from the first level to the second level only; it does not apply from the second to the third level.

Non-compliance occurs when goods requiring marking are not marked or not marked properly.

Applied against the importer.

Applied by an officer or Regional Marking Expert (RME).

This penalty is also applied by a Senior Officer Trade Compliance (SOTC) in post release environment.

The marking program has three components:

1. Do the goods require marking?
2. How should the goods be marked?
3. What country should be marked on the goods?

Officers are responsible for making decisions with respect to components 1 and 2.

The RME is responsible for component 3 and will provide guidance on components 1 and 2.

If a shipment arrives unmarked or improperly marked and there is no uncertainty as to what country should be marked on the goods, the customs officer must reject the import transaction and ensure that the shipment meets marking requirements prior to release.

When there is confusion or disagreement as to what country should be marked on the goods, the customs officer must contact the RME for a ruling.

The RME's ruling will be a determination under section 57.01 of the Customs Act and therefore, the RME must issue the penalty.

The officer must ensure that the shipment is properly marked before the goods are released and provide the RME any documentation or information required for the RME to issue a determination and the penalty.

In cases where fraud is suspected (see Customs Act, section 159.1) a penalty will be issued regardless of whether or not there will be a criminal prosecution.

There are certain types of goods or goods imported under specific conditions that may be exempt from the requirement for country of origin marking. Refer to the D-Memorandum 11-3-1 for details.

For further information as to the method of determining the country of origin, the method and manner of marking, the authorization to mark goods in Canada, the issuance of notice to mark goods, please refer to D-Memorandum 11-3-1.
